

COMMON PET MYTHS & MISCONCEPTIONS

With the advent of time, humans have gained a better understanding of pets. But there exist some common pet myths and misconceptions. Let's discuss them now.

01

CATS LOVE MILK!

We might have seen in cartoons that cats love milk, but this is not true. Cats are lactose intolerant, and milk can lead to diarrhea.

02

DOGS ARE COLOR BLIND

As kids, we read in my science book that dogs can only see black and white color. That's not the fact. Dogs see in shades of yellow and blue and cannot see the range of colors from green to red.

03

CATS PURR WHEN THEY ARE HAPPY

One of the most common misconceptions is that cats purr when content or happy. Cats also purr when they are sick or under some kind of stress.

04

CATS AND DOGS CAN NEVER BE FRIENDS

If you raise a cat and a dog together, they get along very well. In fact, they can become the best of friends. It might not be easy at first, but they get along just fine if you train them well.
